

Request to Tour Guides

Thank you for visiting Kyushu National Museum. We would like to request that all school group tour guides supervise their students, and to remind them to abide by the guidelines stated below when inside the museum. Thank you for your cooperation.

Museum Rules and Guidelines

No eating or drinking in the museum (including sweets and chewing gum) except in designated areas.

Do not touch the museum exhibits.
Do not touch the glass of the display cases.
Do not put items on the display cases.

No running in the museum.
No playing on the escalators.

Please refrain from taking photos of objects or in rooms marked with this logo.

Flash photography, the use of additional lighting, and videography is not permitted. Please note that photography rules for Special Exhibitions may vary.

Please switch off mobile devices or set them to silent mode, and refrain from making or taking calls in the exhibition halls.

Please keep your volume down in the museum.

Please be considerate to other visitors by making as little noise as possible with your shoes.

Only wooden pencils may be used in the exhibition halls.

Please do not leave your belongings (bags, backpacks, etc.) on the benches unattended.

Visitors who do not observe these rules may be asked to leave museum premises.

Other points to note:

- Please leave long umbrellas in the umbrella stands located on the first floor outside the museum. Please fold collapsible umbrellas and keep them inside your bags.
- The museum does not make announcements for tour groups. Please decide on a meeting time before entering the exhibition halls.
- Please be considerate of other visitors when meeting up with your tour group. You may approach the museum staff should you require assistance. Please also refrain from gathering at the entrances to the exhibition halls on the third and fourth floors as space is limited.
- While reservations are not required for entry into the Ajippa Interactive Exhibition Gallery located on the first floor, large tour groups may be subject to entry restrictions.
